2. In spite of my attempt to direct [REDACTED] representative in the area, he insisted that I contact the proper person in the Agency so that such an important opportunity not be lost. I stated that I would refer the matter to the proper office. [REDACTED] later stated that he had informed [REDACTED] that a representative of the Agency would contact him within a week or two. This Agency representative would give [REDACTED] my name. In accordance with my recent telephone conversation with you, I am turning the matter over to you for action. It is important that your representative at least contact [REDACTED] so that neglect of this obligation will not jeopardize our other relationships with the company.
